

CLAIMS

1. What I claim as my invention is the use of adhesive on magnets to attach to a pin in order to hold it in place and, adhesive plus fabric to hold any number of pins in place. Adhesive-covered magnets have been used to hold badges and other objects to a person's clothing. The use of the adhesive-coated magnets for pins or other pieces of jewelry is a new application.
2. I claim the use of adhesive to cause a pin to adhere to a magnet permanently.
3. I claim the use of adhesive plus cloth to allow a person to convert any number of pins to non-fabric penetrating ones.
